Sexual monotony

After a year of intermittent quarantine around the planet, we see that divorces increased by approximately 40%, a very high rate considering that today marriages are 80% less than 50 years ago.

We are going to think about multiple aspects of great impact, such as collective sadness, uncertainty, illness and collective fear.

But what has really killed relationships is monotony, which we are really going to talk about in this post.

If you like something a lot you cannot eat it all the time, if you like hamburgers, imagine eating 7 a day, about two at each meal, for years ... This would go from a delicious pleasure, to torture, in fact, you will know that it was one of the Nazi tortures, to feed and drink the same thing every day.

Well, this principle of mental function adapts to everything, and it is understandable, you went from being separated 10 hours a day, to arriving at night to enjoy company and sex, to simply being locked up at home all day , in an almost infinite space of sexual pleasure.

So after a few months it is totally normal that you are already somewhat exhausted from this maximized, monotony of sexual excess.

The solutions raised are not to be confused, the couple is not bad, you only have to take a few weeks away for the mind to return to normal desire. Perhaps, although it sounds strange, what you are really wanting at this moment is to go to your work, visit friends and family, or simply be doing aimless walks ... Whatever it is, do it, that when you take some distance the desire will return to live.

Fashion is no longer about clothes

For centuries we have been conditioned by the factors of fashion, the four seasons, the trends of movie or pop stars, and an endless number of crazy new things that make us spend tons of money every year, but it seems this has arrived. to its end.

But do not think that it is because of the awakening of consciousness, or the simple thought of change of the capitalist model, it is because of the Covid and the endless quarantines of it around the world.

The campaigns and promotions are prominent, the fashions are fluctuating, you see a bombardment of advertising on social networks and other media, but what is really the use of buying a lot of clothes now?

The truth is not much, your clothes and shoes from a year ago you can enjoy it when all this is over, and maybe it will be fashionable.

But the new fashion, expressed to the 5 senses of others only by applications and social networks, so that fashion is leaning towards simple and cheap factors such as, the new backgrounds for photo and video filters, courses in photo editing programs , lights for photography, new filter designs, internal photography courses, but above all, trends are inclined to added value, such as showing your cooking skills, painting, graphing, sensual photos of the beach have now been transformed into phrases of entrepreneurship.

On the other hand and almost like a fashion, multiple ventures are taking over the coaieles networks, from a lot of small companies that make cookies, juices, drinks, craft beer, even those that sell you company ... In this post we are not going to talk about business, but it is pertinent how it decorates the new social media screen, looking for merits and admiration that now replaces the attention-grabber that good dress and the classification of fashion has called us.

Although access to fashion is cheaper and easier to access, it is also more exploitive and temporary than ever before in life.

Let's continue in the cycle of these weird fashions, and hopefully weirder things in the future.

Sexual neighborhood

In the tremendous boredom of the end of winter, coupled with a lot of restrictions due to Covid, I decided to stay home, buy a lot of food, beers, and have my entertainment subscriptions up to date, but you know I was bored.

Apparently this happened in the same way to my neighbor Lind, who I had never seen and of whom I really did not know of its existence, however by chance we began to greet each other from the windows, then we began to write some small posters and then we shared watching each one at home some series, the truth is a somewhat sexy French, those with big breasts and hips, sexy smile and full lips, it would be a fool if it had not caught my romantic attention, or my appetite.

One night, at the bottom of his window I could see what his legs would be, or at least the reflection of them and part of his feet, it seemed that he was masturbating, this session lasted a long time, which made my mind explode with the excitement ... A couple of daily days of our greetings passed on posters, smiles and others, but I couldn't hold the urge to make a poster, hinted that I had noticed I had a giant sex toy, I did it with some shyness, but this girl responded with a poster talking about her sexual appetite ...

The next night, we decided to start the game by sharing nudity from the windows, which I hope the neighbors didn't notice.

At the end of the quarantine I visited this girl's door hoping to have wild sex, but when I got to her door she was gone, she was there at the time with an Airbnb.

Sad life, I still fantasize about her and her masturbation sessions.
